Council Says

No Beer At Class Parties

Blows Chance To Make History

The Student's council voted down a motion to allow beer at junior and senior class parties by a vote of 9-1 at Monday night's council meeting. The idea put forward was that the junior and senior classes would be allowed to serve beer at parties on the campus in such places as the old coffee shop (shown). The motion was put forward in the first place in order to try to get these two classes to keep their parties on campus, where there would be better supervision and supposedly less trouble.

At the present time first and second year classes are compelled by council law to have their parties on campus. The third and fourth year students are free to have parties off campus, where they can obtain alcoholic beverages. The council took the situation under consideration before Christmas; and, realizing that more members of these classes were of age to drink, the idea was proposed that if beer was served on campus, then the two classes would be more inclined to have their parties here.

A committee was set up to find means of controlling such parties, and regulating them to conform with Quebec liquor laws.

The committee pointed out at Monday's meeting that, due to the Q.L.B. strike, and other unforeseen circumstances such controls could not be put forward with concrete confirmation. The council then proceeded, after a two hour discussion to vote against beer on campus because no concrete controls had been put forward.

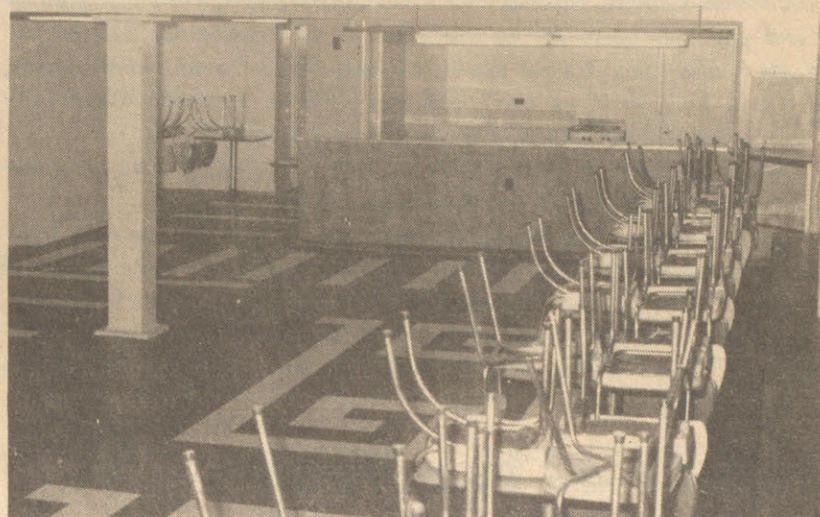

An underlying consent of the group was that the time was not right for such a move. This concension held even though (1) Administration was willing to take the case to the McGill senate for the council in order to obtain a favourable reply, (2) Administration suggested he saw nothing morally wrong with serving beer to the legally of age, if student council so wished it, (3) the wardens of the college were generally in agreement with the idea, (4) the chief of police of St. Anne's was in favor of the idea (5) McGill has a system much the same as that suggested (6) a licence from the Q.L.B. was almost certain and (7) college opinion across Canada is generally in favor of liquor on campus, let alone just beer at class parties.

It was an obvious trend during the discussion that there was no trend at all, a majority being in favor of beer at parties at one time, and yet against it in the final vote.

During the debate discussion was opened to the floor at which time Alex McKinney, permanent president of the senior class, and Bob Grant, the president of the third year class, were given a chance to present their views. They stated that they were in favor of liquor on campus, but they would not press the matter. They felt that the council should not come to an immediate decision, but instead

This is the old coffee shop, with a new appearance; New paint and general re-modeling have changed it into a cozy little nook which will be an ideal spot for class parties. The recent council decision has all but killed the chance that "cold" beer will be served over the bar - so enjoy your coffee & cake.

Mac IVCF Hosted At Ill. Convention

Urbana, Illinois is a university town of some 40,000 students, active and alive during the school year. During the Christmas season when most of the students had gone home Urbana was the scene of the gathering of 7000 college students from across Canada and the United States. The event was the 7th Annual Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship Missionary Convention. For those students who attended, it was four wonderful days of fellowship with other Evangelical Christians in the World of God.

A typical day began at 6:30 with personal devotions in the "Word". At 8:30 there followed a Bible Exposition Hour. This was led by the Rev. John R.W. Stott, Queen's chaplain and rector of All Souls Church in London.

There were a number of sessions which were followed by an opportunity to meet active missionaries and gain an insight into their work.

Each student enrolled in a course in some field of Missionary Work such as Missionary aviation and phone network, personal Evangelism and a host of others. These courses, although not as extensive, can be compared to Physics 112 or Chemistry 110 as they were highly specialized.

After supper we were fortunate to be able to learn of God's message through a host of speakers. The chiefs were:-

Rev. I. Ben Wate of India
P.T. Chandapilla of India
Ruben Lones of Costa Rica
Dr. Donald Hohe of Japan
C. Stacy Woods of U.S.A.
Dr. Billy Graham of U.S.A.

Two nights that will remain in my memory were Tue 29 and Thurs. 31.

On the first evening a memorial service was held for those who have recently given their lives in the Congo and other troubled spots of the world, while in the service of the Lord. Name upon name of individuals and complete families of missionaries were read.

The second of these two memorable evenings was the last night of the convention. After Billy Graham had spoken, about 500 pledged their lives for the first time to God and over 5000 renewed the pledge to serve Him. After this, all of the convention members received Holy Communion.

The three delegates from Macdonald College came back with a very real and unforgettable experience that can be expressed in the last line of one of the most popular hymns of the convention:-

"We are on the Lord's side, Saviour, we are Thine."

The theme of our January meeting will centre around future employment, both permanent and summer and how to be interviewed or how to interview the interviewer. For this meeting we have contacted Mr. Milton V. Duffey, personnel manager for Northern Electric and he has consented to speak to us on this theme.

It is hoped that this will take the form of our last dinner meeting as those who were there thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Understanding Ed. Report

Introduction to an Education Student's Method of Approach to Recommendations 193 through 402 of Part Two of the Second Report of the Quebec Royal Commission on Education.

or

How to be Able to Discuss the Parent Report Intelligently Without having to understand the Whole Thing.

(The first in a series of three articles on the Parent Report).

The 210 recommendations contained in part two of the second report of the Quebec Royal Commission of Education, cover almost every conceivable aspect of elementary and secondary school administration, curriculum and teaching. For myself, a mere novice in the fascinating and complex business of education and for my fellow Mac. Ed. students who are in the same boat - a boat which has suddenly taken off on a very new but very carefully charted course - there is the feeling that we must know all about this report, which is of such significance to the profession we are about to enter. However it is obvious that a complete critical analysis of this momentous document, which is manifold broad implications, would present a formidable task for even the most highly educated educators. How, then, are we beginners - the very people who will be most crucially affected by the report - to approach it?

With this problem in mind, I have hit upon a surefire method for approaching the report - a method so valid that I have written to the Quebec Dept. of Education suggesting that they incorporate this as a 403rd Recommendation. For some reason, my suggestion was not adopted, but here it is anyway, free to all interested readers of the Failt-Ye Times.

My suggestion is simply that each Mac. Ed. student:-

1. pick the particular topic in the field of education that he or she is most interested in, and then;

2. skim the Parent Report looking for any points that refer to that topic;

3. write a reasonably good summary of these abovementioned points;

4. memorize it; and

5. when asked by anyone what your opinion is on the Parent Report, recite your summary remembering to quote at least one recommendation verbatim.

One such topic, most adequately dealt with by the Report, is the development of children and youth and the educational guidance thereof. Pertaining to this, the implications of the Parent Report are that, henceforth, there will be a much greater emphasis on what is known, in educational psychology centres, as a pupil-centered education. In next week's article this aspect will be delved into in much greater detail.

Editorial: This Year Has 365 Days

This is the year, 1965, a new year which one can supposedly enter with bright new hopes, resolutions and aspirations. But I must admit, I enter this year with a bit of a shudder.

After a year so full of hate, war and killing, I am not only half sick with disgust, but also weak with a feeling of helplessness. Here I am living in a country supposedly strong but I see nothing of this strength — why don't we end this needless killing and suffering. God knows there is nothing more precious on this earth than life itself; compared to life and health all the wealth in the world is not worth the powder to blow it. This country is no less guilty than the people who stand by and watch a person getting beaten or strangled. Yet this country does just that, day after day; and don't fool yourself, what your country does is not of any concern to you. The head of this country is elected to office, and it is we students who are and will do this electing in the near future. It is not our fault that Canada has not had a real leader in the last fifty years (and you can quote me on that), but it most certainly will be our fault if she doesn't have one in the next fifty, or even twenty, years, and God help us if we don't find one by then, because this country isn't going to last long just supported by a disputed flag.

But if our guilt is great, and it is, what a burden must be shouldered by the conscience of the American people.

Now don't get me wrong; I would go to war tomorrow to fight Communism, but it would be my own life I offered, and not that of a person who "knows not what he is doing". It must be just about time this side of the world realized that sacrificing the lives of other people is neither a way into the hearts of nations, nor a pass-through Peter's Gate.

Help!

Are you interested in getting a position on this paper? Would you make a good reporter? Can you write, or would you like to learn?

If your answer is yes to any of those questions, now is your chance. We are at a point right now where we are thinking about next years staff. This years staff will be almost completely gone, and we need a strong backbone to carry on the paper.

We are mainly interested in getting people who are interested in learning by doing. We will teach you how to lay out a paper or how to write a by-line. We are in desperate need of by-line writers.

Within the next week I will be sending to Ottawa for C.U.P. press cards, which are personal, and let the bearer into anything any press man can gain attendance to.

For those and other reasons, there will be a meeting in the Failt-Ye office on Monday night at 7:00, to which anyone interested in working on the paper is invited. The office is located in publications, which is just past the gym in Brittain Hall.

Letters To The Editor

Are We Scared And Irresponsible

In the light of the discussion that took place at the Student Council meeting last Monday night on the matter of beer on campus at class parties for the third and fourth year, this is my feeling.

First, we were not asked to discuss the matter from the viewpoint we did last night.

We are not discussing whether we should have beer or not, since this idea has already been accepted in principle by the administration who are ready to take the request to the McGill authorities. The wardens of the women's residences are also convinced that this is going to be an improvement for the safety of their girls. No, we had been asked since early December to find a good way to make rules controlling beer on campus. Instead of debating the wrong issue why don't we get the job?

There was a committee setup within the student council to look into the subject. What came out of it? Nothing concrete. As a result on January 25th I will have a report to submit to you at an open meeting called by the Students council in the Assembly Hall.

By that time, if no other proposals have been developed, we will at least have this one to discuss.

What is wrong with us when we are saying that there are many universities that don't have liquor on campus? This is a different situation than our own because in other places the student council may be fighting to get it on campus but the authorities are not open-minded enough to try it, while here the authorities are not opposed to the idea in principle and believe that reasonable control is more beneficial than banning it. It is apparently the Student's Council that is scared because they will have to assume home responsibility to the problems.

Do we really think that the college authorities are not

It now looks like the students of Macdonald are going to be able to obtain white summer jackets. This is a reversal of council opinion over the years, and a much welcomed one by this writer.

careful and are irresponsible. I personally think that our authorities are more modern and up to date than we of the younger generation.

Accordingly, we want facts and suggestions for control measures. I will provide them on January 25th at the open meeting of the Student Society in the Assembly Hall.

SUB Sinking

As this paper prophesized at the first of the year, the proposed new Students' Union Building is fast fading into the background. With a foreseen lack of push from the Students' Council, the progress so far is a fat zero. The council was told Monday night that the McGill senate was holding up the hiring of an architect by the Council. This is not hard to believe as the same senate managed to hold up the S.U.B. at McGill for 30 years. Surely we don't have to wait that long.

Newspaper Workshop

As a follow-up to the successful General Publicity Workshop held last term, the publicity Department is planning a Newspaper Workshop to be held Jan. 21.

This workshop will feature training and practice in preparing newspaper articles and reporting new features. Mr. Jack Cram of the "Family Herald" staff will be on hand to conduct the workshop and his vast experience in extension and in newspaper work speak for themselves in qualifying him as our instructor.

Although planned for the benefit of publicity department members and activity chairmen, the workshop is not restricted to these people. Any student interested in newspaper publicity is invited to join us Thursday evening, January 21, for this newspaper Workshop.

Watch the bulletin boards for details as to the time and place but keep the workshop in mind. Keep in mind too, the first Thursday in February when we hope to present a similar workshop on poster design and construction.

Cartoon Contest

Once again we are sponsoring a cartoon contest. The cartoons should be of campus life, depicting either humorous or controversial subjects on the campus.

There will be a $5.00 prize for 1st place, $2.50 for second and $1.00 for third. All cartoons used in the paper will bring their originator 25¢.

Final date for receipt of cartoons is March 10th. However we encourage people to send in the cartoons as soon as they are finished, as the effect is sometimes lost if they arrive too late.

Madame Casgrain To Lecture In French 100

Macdonald College will be honoured by the presence of Mrs. Claire Kirkland-Casgrain January 19. She has been invited by the French department to give a lecture as part of the new French 100 course. Mrs. Casgrain will lecture on "Politics in Quebec" and everyone is invited to attend to listen to this noted speaker. There will be two lectures, one at 9:30 and one at 11:00. Politics, being as they are in Quebec at the moment, we do need some one to come and perhaps clarify them for us. We are hoping for a large turnout at both lectures.

Mrs. Casgrain studied law at McGill and became a member of the Bar in 1952. She was the first woman lawyer to appear before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislative Assembly sine Confederation. She continued her practice after her marriage to Philippe Casgrain who is also a lawyer. Mrs. Casgrain is a member of the Alpha Kappa Theta Fraternity. She is also president of the Constitution Committee of the Liberal Women's Federation of the Province of Quebec, and one of the founding members of the Association for Women Lawyers of the Province of Quebec.

Mrs. Casgrain was chosen as the Liberal Party's official candidate for the by-election of December 14, 1961. Her election as the first woman member in Quebec aroused interest not only in the county but throughout the Province and the whole of Canada. has been one of the most active members of Parliament since her election and through her work and her speaking engagements throughout Canada has gained prestige everywhere.

She made headlines again in the general election of November 14, 1962 when she won with a majority of 50,000 votes and was the first member whose election was conceded. She has been Quebec's first woman cabinet minister since December 5, 1962, and is responsible for the adoption of Bill 16 which grants married women legal capacity. Recently, she was made Minister of Transport and Communications.

Parent Report ...

A New Look At Quebec Education

Reprinted from the Globe and Mail

The commission, established in 1961 and headed by Right Rev. Alphonse-Marie Parent, also took note of the fact that, because of Quebec's division on religious and language lines, English-speaking students were usually taught French by English-speaking Protestants and French-speaking students were taught English by French-speaking Catholics with rather unsatisfactory results for all.

Among the sacred cows were the views of history in all school systems.

The Protestant teachers' handbook said history was to develop a healthy nationalism while promoting tolerance for others; the English Catholic system said it was to make students appreciate rights and responsibilities as Canadians and develop loyalty and national pride rooted in historical reality; and the French Catholic system pointed to "the purity of our French Canadian origins, the religious, moral, heroic and idealistic character of our ancestors—the visible protection of Providence on the survival of our nationalism."

All of it, said the report, must go. Patriotic preaching must be disassociated from history; a new approach must be taken.

The new approach recommended that English be obligatory from Grade 5 on in French-language schools. (French is already taught from Grade 3 on in English-language schools in the province).

Up to now, the report said, tradition has made the second language a boring and painful occupation for both teachers and pupils. Study of the second language was prompted by strictly utilitarian motives.

"On the whole," it said, "there are few links of friendship between the English-speaking and the French." The report added that even relations between French and English language universities were rare and recent and usually carried out in Eng-

UNB Wraps Xmas Wish In A Paper To

FREDERICTON (CUP)--A three-month newspaper famine at Mount Allison University was broken last December when student journalists at the University of New Brunswick distributed a parody edition of The Argosy, Mount "A"'s student paper, on the Mount Allison campus in time for Christmas.

UNB version of The Argosy --the creation of staff members of The Brunswickan, student newspaper at UNB--was in the hands of students at Mount Allison Dec. 12.

The paper, which was a parody of the Mount Allison campus scene, contained the following message for Mount Allison students: "The Editor and staff of The Brunswickan, moved by that feeling of 'peace on earth, good will to men,' have decided to give the students of Mount 'A' a yuletide gift."

"The Brunswickan editorial board has always tried to foster that feeling of brotherhood and cooperation between itself and other campuses that perhaps do not enjoy the advantages of an informative and revered (and regular) newspaper."

Cup Conference Report

Mr. James Laxer, a honours history student at Queen's University, was acclaimed to the position of National President of Canadian University Press 65-66 at the 27 Annual CUP National Conference held in Hamilton Ontario from December 28 to December 30. Mr. Laxer is presently serving as Vice-President of CUP and will begin his duties as President in August of this year serving for a nine month term.

During the three day conference, editors from universities all across Canada met to discuss common problems. Lord Thompson of Fleet, founder of the Thompson Newspaper chain, opened the conference.

CUP decided to move towards a closer relationship with Presse Etudiante National which consists of French newspapers. A Newspaper exchange will begin among CUP members and PEN members.

The conference refused to send CUP delegates to the World University Service conference in Chile and to Cuba '65.

The Combined Universities Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament sought the help and participation of CUP in a summer research action project on news coverage in the daily press. CUP refused to participate.

Robson Reports On First Term In Council

The Students' Council strongly feels that the Student Body of Macdonald College should know where we stand, financially and with respect to the major decisions made by Council during the 1964 fall term. With the passing of the budget at our Jan. 11 meeting, Council is now in a position to make a brief semi-annual report. I hope that you will study this report carefully, and encourage any questions or suggestions you may have about the activities outlined below. The next regular Council Meeting, Jan. 25, 7 p.m. is being planned to take the form of an open meeting in the Assembly Hall. You are invited to bring with you to the meeting any questions arising from this report which you may wish to ask.

Robert G. Robson

McGill University: Apart from our several meetings with McGill, towards the realization of a Students' Union on this campus, we have been fortunate in receiving a great deal of assistance and co-operation from the McGill Students' Society. An invitation was extended to the Vice-President and myself to take part in the McGill Conference on Student Affairs last September.

While the discussion at the Conference was directed to McGill Student Affairs only, we do feel that some insight towards administration of student affairs, as well as valuable contacts with student leaders at McGill, was achieved.

Our position with respect to the possibility of joining C.U.S. this year remains neutral. C.U.S. has altered its structure to accommodate the bilingual character of Canada, but at the same time, Laval University and the University of Montreal founded a Union Générale des Etudiants de Québec (U.G.E.Q.). We feel strongly that naming this organization U.G.E.Q. was a misnomer, as English-speaking Universities were invited to attend the founding conference of U.G.E.Q. as observers only, and were allowed no part in the constitutional makeup of U.G.E.Q.

With the position of English-speaking Universities within U.G.E.Q. remaining so indefinite, and while U.G.E.Q. members are NOT permitted to join any other national group without the sanction of U.G.E.Q.'s General Assembly, it is unwise for Macdonald to attempt any steps towards national or regional student union membership this year.

I expect that within the next few weeks, discussion at Students' Council meetings will be centred around:

1. Council's stand on class parties and any decision they may take with respect to serving beer at these parties.

2. The report of the Student Affairs' Committee and the position of the present Student Activity Committee.

3. The position of the Publications General Department on this campus.

Secs Report

One aim in 1964-'65 is continuity, and to this end, the Students' Council has hired Mrs. Jean Vauthier as permanent secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Vauthier handles most of the secretarial work for organizations on campus, as well as the Students' Council.

The position of recording secretary, instituted by last year's Students' Council has been continued, and Mrs. Vau-thier attends all meetings of Students' Council in this capacity. She is also the secretary of the Finance Committee.

The files in the Council House are now up-to-date and the Council House is being well-used and equipped for the first time.

By the year's end, we hope the position of permanent Secretary-Treasurer will be outlined fully by co-ordinating secretarial and financial duties.

The secretary of Students' Council now serves as a more active Council member due to the minimal secretarial work demanded.

Students Union Report

Since the last report on the Students' Union given in the Student Society meeting last fall, progress has not been as rapidly as we had hoped, but some major steps forward have been taken.

The Student Union Survey taken from Oct. 5-9, 1964, showed results of 80% in favour of construction of such a building. Facilities, that students felt we need most, included a College Shop, Class Party Areas, Meeting Rooms and a gymnasium, large enough that it could double for major dances and college functions.

With the added difficulties presented by off campus parties in recent months, the need for party areas on campus has become more acute.

On Nov. 18, 1964, a cheque for $20,000 was presented to Dr. H. Locke Robertson, Principal and Vice-Chancellor, McGill University from the Macdonald College Students' Society.

The conditions of this donation stated that a decision for construction be taken, and an acceptable target date for completion be indicated by the end of March, 1965, or the donation would be withdrawn, for disposition by next year's Council.

It was subsequently felt in Council that no action was being taken by McGill with regards to a Union Building, and there seemed to be little hope such action in the foreseeable future. Steps were then taken to hire our own architect to draw up preliminary plans of a building to suit the needs at Macdonald.

As yet, this step has not been finalized, but an answer in this regard is expected shortly.

This committee, as well as others at Macdonald College, who are working toward the realization of such a building are becoming increasingly concerned with the lack of facilities for student activities. It is hoped that finances might soon be made available so that preliminary planning might begin as quickly as possible.

lish only since only the French-speaking tended to be truly bilingual.

The report said examinations on religion might be useful but shouldn't be counted in the year's results.

"One of the blunders of our system has without doubt been to gorge the child with religious theory, to fill his day with routine practices." It continued, "We believe that two hours of religious education weekly is sufficient."

Class Parties

1. Freshmen, Sophomores and first term Juniors shall hold their class parties on campus.

2. The old coffee shop area located in Brittain Hall will be made available to all groups for class parties as well as for class meetings. The classes will be responsible for the cleaning after usage.

3. Class parties shall be restricted to the class having the party, although another group or class may be invited if the class having the party sees fit.

4. One outside guest per student may be invited to the party. All guests must be signed in at the door.

5. Staff guests should find chaperoning a party a pleasant and enjoyable experience. This can only be accomplished if the class members include them in the party.

6. Beer, wine or distilled liquors may not be served on the Macdonald College campus at class parties.

7. The above are rules and regulations for class parties and must be strictly adhered to. It is the responsibility of the class executive to see that these rules and regulations are enforced.

8. Students' Council reserve the right to refuse permission to any class for having a class party.

(Approved by the Macdonald College Students' Council January 11, 1965 and EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY).

Brittain Hall Recreation Area

The rest of the Recreation Centre has seen several changes. The old table-tennis room has been converted into a pool room, housing two pool tables, a large one and a smaller one. The television room is now across the hall from the pool room and is quite adequate.

With the removal of the Coffee Shop, a few changes have been made in the basement of Brittain Hall. The Old Coffee Shop area has been completely renovated and made into a cozy area suitable for class parties and other functions that classes or clubs may wish to hold. This area has been isolated from the Recreation Centre of Brittain Hall, mainly to restrict all activities to that area, for the simple reasons that other groups may wish to hold uninterrupted practises or rehearsals for class plays, Drama, Green & Gold and other activities. Student wives would be able to use this area, and Post Graduates are also encouraged to do so.

Our new addition to the Residence is a study room which, we hope, will be very useful to all concerned. However, it would appear that with the little use it had been put to, considerable damages had been done to the furniture. It is our ultimate aim to improve the area generally.

The Recreation Centre which is no longer governed by a Recreation Committee has put us in an awkward situation with respect to care and replacement of articles: however, volunteer workers have done an excellent job to maintain these articles and have contributed to the total welfare of the area. We shall be willing to have comments from you and would certainly be willing to put into effect some of your requests.

Sargeant's Statement

At a meeting of the Students' Council on Jan. 11, 1965, the Budget was approved as recommended by the Finance Committee.

Due to the condition of previous records and the tremendous amount of difficulty in performing an audit on the Students' Council books for the year ended May 31, 1964, the budgets were delayed to this late date.

In submitting the 1964-'65 Budget for review, a Statement of Revenue and Expenditure for the year ended May 31, 1964 has been included to provide a comparison with the result of last year's finances and the current budget.

This year an attempt has been made to submit a budget to include a more detailed breakdown of our finances as well as greater control and utilization of Student Activity Fees.

Of the $26 Student Activity Fee paid by each student, $11 is allocated to Athletics - the remaining $15 constitutes the Students' Council Budget.

Changes in the budget this year as recommended by the Finance Committee include:

1. An appropriation to the Winter Carnival of $1150 as compared to a zero budget in the past. To improve the calibre of Winter Carnival, it has become necessary to increase the prices of events to the student. By including a percentage of the cost in the Student Activity Fee, it will be possible to reduce the prices of the Carnival events to the Student.

2. The transfer of Carnival Ball from the Dance Committee Budget to the Winter Carnival Budget.

3. A rejection of the Publications General Budget because their financial request was not justified.

4. The budgeting of Photography Department directly under Council General for the photography of various College publications.

Further requests for financial assistance and budget changes will be reviewed by the Finance Committee at any time.

Major sources of revenue, other than Student Activity Fees include Vending Machines of which Students' Council receive the profits and the Coffee Shop. Under the present management of the Coffee Shop, the profit transferred to Students' Council by Administration is based on 7% of gross sales. This provides the student body with a definite return based on their own volume of business.

This report has been submitted to give each student an insight into the financial structure of the Student Society with the hope that any suggestions or questions may improve the allocation and distribution of Student Activity Fees.

Royal Queen and Princesses

Royal time is rolling around again and it is time to consider who will be Royal Queen '65. As many people wonder how the Queen and her two Princesses are chosen, I shall now explain the procedure to be followed this year. The male members of the classes that are at Macdonald for two years or more will nominate one girl from their class. This year there will also be one chosen from the combined class 1G, T.P., and 2S.

There is only one girl from the three above as many of these students commute, not allowing them to take an active part in the Royal, and the number of nominations are kept to a minimum to make the judging easier.

The girls will be judged on interest in the Royal, personality, attractiveness and general interest in college activities in that order.

After the girl has been nominated by her class, she must write a short account of her college activities and an essay on what the Royal means to her.

On February 13th the girls will be judged at a tea party. The judges will have read the accounts written by the girls before meeting them. After the tea, three girl's names will be announced as Royal Princesses. The day of the Royal, one of the Princesses will be crowned as Queen.

To have the Royal Queen as a member of your class is something everyone should be proud of. Class Presidents should be sure to have a meeting to nominate a candidate.

should get more facts, which they pointed out were very scarce for such a serious decision. They stated that they felt liquor was bound to come on campus within the next few years, and that it would be nice for this council to make the big move, providing the correct control measures were taken.

All of the above suggestions were pretty well ignored by the council, who at that time had apparently made up their minds. There did, however, appear to be an idea prevalent that the council should protest the first and second year students. (They seemed to forget that first, these two classes would be unable to attend beer parties, and secondly, that in the next two years it is these students who will be the junior and senior classes. The council also seemed to forget that these classes only served beer if they so desired).

The council also seemed to show a disrespect for the students views in general, and those of the senior class in particular. One member even stated that he was voting against beer at parties because the seniors were in favor of it. (No one seemed to realize that the seniors would probably not get a chance to benefit at all, as the year would be near over before a concrete plan could be put forward). The education representative even had the nerve to say she would vote against the plan because education students would be able to get beer at McGill in third and fourth years. (What about the IG students?).

The discussion on this subject was brought to an end when, after the vote had been taken, it was agreed to keep the committee which was to look into control measures (H. Harricharan, R. Robson, M. Robison, W. Ferris and B. Stephen) in order that they could carry on their work.

Mont St. Hilaire Student Leadership Workshop Report

In looking back over our 1964 activities, the Leadership Workshop held last term during the weekend prior to registration, was perhaps the project which was most valuable. This Workshop was of direct benefit to Council members and Activities Chairmen, but indirectly, it benefitted the entire student body.

At the Leadership Workshop, which was held at the Gault Donation on Mont St. Hilaire, 24 Council members and Activity Chairmen met, accompanied by Dr. Brawn, Mr. Waldron and Rev. Olive, to discuss our campus problems, to seek some means of solving these problems, and to outline and correlate our activity program for the year.

In order that each individual might more efficiently work as a leader within his activity on campus, sessions were held on parliamentary procedure and public speaking. Discussions were held on motivation, student-staff relations, college publicity and the Students' Activities Committee. As the most lengthy discussion centered around the Students' Activities Committee, a committee was set up to study the situation and to draw up recommendations to be presented to Council.

No workshop fulfills its purpose unless the plans formulated are carried through. We feel that the "follow-up" has been successful, for some of the plans have been carried through and others, we hope, will be set up to follow through next term.

Following one of the recommendations made at the Workshop, a Class Presidents' Committee has been set up. This permits class presidents to discuss class activities and mutual problems, and also provides an outlet through which class views and suggestions may be made to Council. (The Students' Council President is chairman of this committee.) This newly formed committee has already met with the Wardens to discuss various points concerning all students, particularly those in residence.

A Publicity Workshop was conducted under the direction of Mr. Ralph Marven, a public relations advisor. Campus publicity workers and others interested in mass media presentation met to discuss our publicity program and to offer suggestions for improvement. A series of three "work nights" will be held this term to permit our publicity people to meet with experts who will help us publicize our events more effectively through the press, radio and posters.

In order that staff members may know in advance about college events, each receives a copy of the monthly Calendar Correlations.

The Committee set up at Mont St. Hilaire to look into reorganizing the Students' Activities Committee, studied the problem and have drawn up recommendations which will be presented to Council early this year and, hopefully, will be put into effect in 1965.

We can conclude that the Leadership Workshop was a very worth-while project. It is hoped that it will become an annual event.

Interclass Woodsmen Competition

The interclass woodsmen competition will be held tomorrow, Saturday. The competition will start at 11:30 with the cross country ski race (if it snows on time). There will be six events in the afternoon, starting at 1:00 p.m. Come out and cheer for your team as they enter in chopping, splitting, pulp throwing, swede sawing, cross cutting and water boiling.

Notice To All Intercollegiate Woodsmen

Tryouts will be held for the next two weeks in the Arbo- return for the Intercollegiate Woodsmen competition to be held during the Winter Carnival. Anyone interested should contact Chuck Warner, Brittain Hall.

Two Losses For B-Ball

St. Patrick's College played host to the Mac Aggies on January 8th in a spirited game which saw the St. Pat's team upset Mac 65-59.

High man for St. Pat's was Dave Berlin with 20 points. Scoring for Mac was evenly divided with Dan Ring, Allan Armitage and Roger Baili, getting 15, 12 and 11 points respectively.

On Saturday Mac travelled to Kingston and were trounced by Royal Military College 105-41. Scoring for R.M.C. were Jim Leitch, 24, Bob Mason, 20, and Doug Ross, 18 points.

Scoring for Mac were Jeff Dunn, Brian Harding and Dan Ring with 9, 8, and 8 points respectively.

Macdonald now has won two and lost three games in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Basketball League. Next home game will be this Saturday with Ottawa U at Mac. Come out and support the team.
